About Celonis

Founded in 2011 in Munich, Celonis is the global leader in process mining and process intelligence. Its AI-powered Execution Management System (EMS) uncovers inefficiencies buried inside SAP, Salesforce, and ServiceNow — turning raw event-log data into real-time operational improvements.

By 2022 Celonis reached a $13 billion valuation, cementing its status as Europe's most valuable B2B software unicorn. Rapid expansion across North America, APAC, and EMEA created an urgent need for a hiring partner capable of matching that pace — especially across enterprise GTM and post-sale delivery functions.

Selected's Hiring Mandate

Selected was engaged by Celonis to fill 12 critical enterprise roles spanning the UK and East Coast of North America. Eight positions were senior Account Executive and Customer Success Manager roles — responsible for new-logo acquisition, renewal management, and strategic upsell within Fortune 500 accounts.

The remaining four were Solution Architect / Implementation Consultant profiles requiring deep SAP, Salesforce, and ServiceNow expertise combined with enterprise programme delivery under tight SLA constraints.

Operating in a fiercely competitive talent market, Selected moved with precision — qualifying candidates who could hold a board-level commercial conversation and dissect a process-mining event log.

Outcome / ROI

Within seven months, Selected completed all 12 enterprise hires spanning the UK, New York, and Boston. Attrition across the cohort has remained exceptionally low — only one departure since onboarding — a strong signal of cultural and capability fit in a notoriously high-churn SaaS market.

The Account Executives contributed to over $40M in new ARR pipeline in their first year. Solution Architects reduced average implementation cycle time by 22% across assigned accounts, directly improving NPS scores with marquee clients.

By embedding as a trusted talent partner, Selected enabled Celonis to maintain delivery commitments during its most intensive growth phase, protecting NRR and supporting the company's trajectory toward a potential public listing.

"Their process-mining domain knowledge set them apart — every shortlisted candidate was pre-qualified on both the commercial and technical dimensions we care about most."

"Recruiting for process-mining roles is uniquely challenging — you need people who can hold a board-level commercial conversation in the morning and dissect an SAP event log in the afternoon. Selected understood that dual requirement from day one.

They moved at the pace our growth demanded, delivered a remarkably tight shortlist each time, and their post-placement follow-through gave us real confidence these hires would stick. I would not hesitate to engage Selected again as we scale into new markets."
